" Circulation Books Open to All."

PRICE ONE CENT.

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1893.

PRICE ONE CENT.

ALMOST FREE OF CHARGE---A Situation Wanted Adv't in The World, 20 Words for 10 cts. Use Blank on Page 7

EIGHT PACES.

ALL DREAD MYSTERY.

Burlingham Unread.

And No Clue Yet to the Fate of

New York Stamps on the Cothing of One of the Dead.

MIDDLETOWN N. V. Sept. 5 .- There is still dense mystery as to the identity Burlingham, Sullivan County, twelve miles from this city.

Sunday at nome, but had just left for Bloomingburg in company with the mason.

A search warrant was then obtained and placed in the hands of Constable Joe Seett, who was also provided with a warrant for the woman's arrest.

Mrs. Halliday was found engaged in washing blood from the rag carpet which had covered the floor. There was also a bloody rope lying in a pail of water which she was using.

Mrs. Halliday refused to admit the men to the house, threatening to kill them if they attempted to enter. The only weapon at hand was a piece of board, and with this she struck Mr. canded on the hand. She was at once disarmed, and then gave up all show of figh.

The halliday refused to enter. The overhauled, and then gave up all show of figh.

The bodies and then one of the party noticed a quantity of loose hay in a cow shall in the basement of the burn. This was thrown off, and revealed a heap of fresh refuse, beneath which the women'n bodies were found.

The bodies are found.

The bodies are to coroner Roesch, and the report of the ghastly find spread rapidly all over the country, so that crowds of people soon gathered from far and near. The excitement was intense. The Coroner impanciled a jury, which viewed the bodies and the inquest was adjourned until to-day.

The bodies were then carried to the house, where the rags in which they had been wareped were removed. The feet

The bodies were then carried to the house, where the rags in which they had been wrapped were removed. The feet of both were tied together and the hands were folded across the breast and tied. The only article of clothing on either was a gauze vest.

The first body placed upon an improvised table for examination was that of a woman apparently thirty or thirty-live years old. The physicians gave as their opinion that she had been dead at least four or five days, and possibly longer.

longer.

The meaner of the death was apparent at once, for there were no less than eight bullet holes in the left breast in the region of the heart, within a space that could be covered by the hand.

The woman was five feet tail, quite fieshy and had auburn hair and brown

The woman was five feet tail, quite fleshy and had auburn hair and brown eyes.

The second body was that of a girl apparently eighteen to twenty years of age, five feet three inches tail, light hair, blue eyes and fairly good looking.

But for the fact that n watch had been kept upon the house Sunday aftermeon and night, the physicians would all have declared that she had not been dead twenty-four hours.

There were six wounds in the left side over the heart. At least three bullets passed through the heart and others through the lungs. Another ball had passed through the right wrist, probably when the woman raised her hand to ward off a second shot.

The young woman's hands were soft and her nalls well manicured. A flannel shirt and clothing found in the house supposed to belong to her were of good quality. A mark upon the third finger of the left hand indicated that she had been accustomed to wear a ring.

The clothing found consisted of a light sack, striped waist, read skirt, an underwaist, corset and underclothing, on some of which were the trade mark of Stern & Ch. of New York.

No clothing that is supposed to have belonged to the other woman was found.

The impression prevails at Burling.

found.

The impression prevails at Burlingham that both of the murdered women were city beaders.

The bullets taken from the bodies and one tound upon the floor were of Z-calibre. No pistol was found, although Mrs. Halliday said her husband had two revolvers, and she supposed they would be found in the house.

Two shovels and a crowbar in the house had fresh earth upon them, which gave rise to the impression that Halliday's body had been buried.

Another theory is that Mrs. Halliday, after murdering her husband, burned his body in the kitchen stove. There were found pieces of charred bones and a mass of ashes believed to have been made from burning flesh.

The story that Halliday has been put out of the way is strengthened by the fact that his best suit of clothes, his best hat and shoes and also his old hat and boots that he wore at his work were all found in the house.

T. R. Hart, a young lawyer from New York, tendered his services to Mrs. Halliday as counsel and advised her to say nothing. Up to that time she had been as rational as anybody, but at once began playing the crazy act.

Paul Halliday was for many years a resident of this city, and was employed in the saw factory. His first wife made ther to his children.

bout twenty years ago Halliday sold charcoal.

After a few years the family removed to Providence, R. L. where Halliday was employed as engineer in the office of the Providence Journal.

After a number of years he returned to his old place on the mountain.

His wife died some six or seven years ago, and after remaining a widower for a short time he married a woman said to be a gypsy, who has made his old age as wretched as that of any man could be.

Foregod Mob of Citizens in the Manager Herschdorier, Too, is Not

Riddle of the Slain Women at half-witted fellow, perished in the flames.

There were those who said that his devil of a wife had made away with the boy and burned the house to conceal her crime, but there was no positive proof to sustain the charge.

About two years ago Mrs. Halliday cisappeared from her mountain home, and when next heard of was in Newburg under arrest for stealing a horse. While in jail she displayed symptoms of violent insanity, and though some thought she was shamming, she was sent to an insane asylum from which she was released in May last.

New Jersey Corporation That Was JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 5 -On the day in the barn of Paul Halliday, near Vicet, Louis V, Booraem, of Montelair, the dead ind at his father's home in was to-day appointed receiver for the Bilsaville, crowds of men, women and Moddett. Hodgkins and Clarke Co., of children surged all the morning.

silitie property in this city and bought wild place on the mountain above Burbalan, where he engaged in burning BARRETT IS JAILED. HAS HE ABSCONDED?

Long Island City Court.

Cold-Blooded Murder.

Coroner Meiners, of Long Island City. mon that lies back of Calvary Cometery on the southerly side. One child. L. D. BOORAEM MADE RECEIVER. a boy of nine years, was literally shot Formed to Build Water-Works. on whose land they were who lives at Maspeth, is at present lying in the Burlingham. Sullivan County, twelve miles from this city.

Hailiday himself is still missing, and his wife is under arrest on suspicion of faving committed the murders.

It was the disappearance of Hailiday chat led to the finding of the dead bodies of the women. He had not been seen about the neighborhood since wednesday, and his son, Paul Hailiday, fr., who lives in the vicinity, started the interpolated in the standard of the standard in the presence of the standard in the program of the standard in the program of the standard in the program of the company and the alloyed murdering would be said the Company, but followed 1800,000, and act ally worth years and the standard in the program of the program of the standard in the program of the prog

Enraged Mob of Citizens in the Manager Herschdorier, Too, is Not to Be Found.

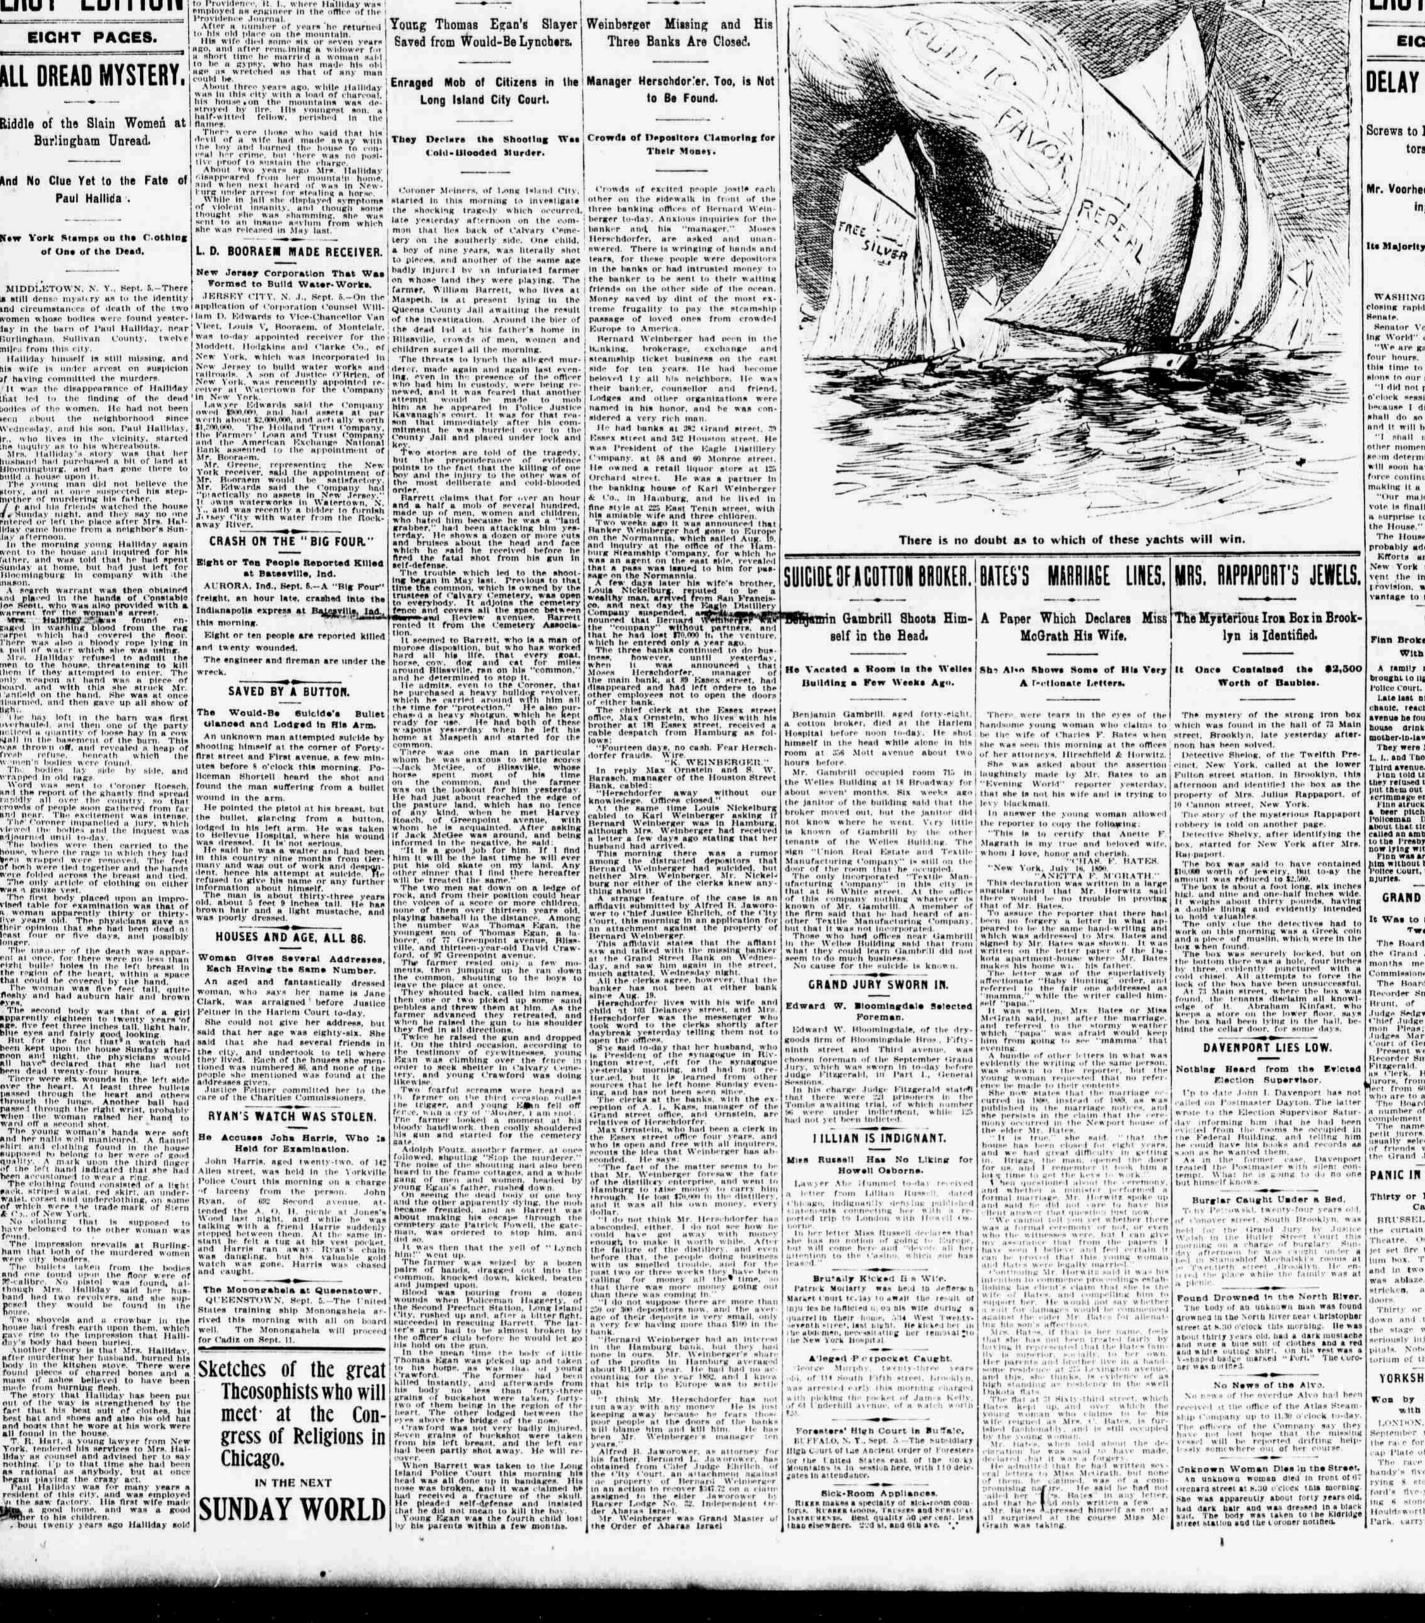

They Declars the Shooting Was Crowds of Depositors Clamoring for Their Money.

Crowds of excited people jostle each started in this morning to investigate other on the sidewalk in front of the the shocking tragedy which occurred, three banking offices of Bernard Weinlate yesterday afternoon on the com- berger to-day. Anxious inquiries for the banker and his "manager," Moses Herschdorfer, are asked and unanswered. There is wringing of hands and to pieces, and another of the same age tears, for these people were depositors in the banks or had intrusted money to on whose land they were playing. The the banker to be sent to their waiting friends on the other side of the ocean and circumstances of death of the two application of Corporation Counsel Willwomen whose bodies were found yester. Iam D. Edwards to Vice-Chancellor Van of the investigation. Around the bier of passage of loved ones from crowded Europe to America.

Bernard Weinberger had been in the children surged all the morning. Banking, brokerage, exchange and. The threats to lynch the alleged mursteamship ticket business on the cast side for ten years. He had become their banker, counsellor and friend. Lodges and other organizations were named in his honor, and he was con

He had banks at 382 Grand street, 33 Essex street and 342 Houston street. He was President of the Eagle Distillers He owned a retail liquor store at 125 about thirty years old, had a dark mustache and wore a bine suit of clothes and a red and white outing shirt. On his vest was a pitals. Nobody was killed. The auditorium of the ineatre was not damaged, ner was notified.

THE SILVER CUP TRIAL RACE IN CONGRESS.

had dark hair and was dressed in a black suit. The body was taken to the kidridge street station and the coroner notified.

The body was taken to the kidridge at the carrying stone, was third.

EICHT PACES.

DELAY MUST CEASE.

Screws to Be Put on the Obstructors in the Senate.

Mr. Voorhees Says Repeal Is Gaining Rapidly There.

Its Majority to He Surprising as That in the House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 .- The lines are closing rapidly on the silver men in the ing World" correspondent this morning: We are gaining ground every twentyhis time to give names, but the accesdons to our side are most encouraging. "I did not press my resolution for an 11 o'clock session of the Senate yesterday because I did not think it wise, but I shall do so within twenty-four hours, and it will be adopted.

"I shall not be responsible for an-other moment's delay. As the opposition seem determined to obstruct. I expect we will soon have to put the screws on and force continuous sessions, night and day, making it a test of physical endurance. "Our majority for repeal, when the rote is finally taken, will be as much of a surprise to the country as was that in

The House meets to-morrow, and will probably adopt its rules. Efforts are being made to antage to the silver men hereafter.

Finn Broke Up the Allen's Carousal

house drinking and carousing with his They were Martin Allen, of Dutch Hills I., and Thomas Allen, his brother, of 1912

L. I. and Thomas Allen, his brother, of 1912
Third avenue. Both men were very drunk.
Finn told them to get out of his house, but they refused to go, and when he attempted to put them out they showed fight and a lively acrimmage ensued.
Finn atruck Martin Allen on the head with a beer pitcher, knocking him senseless.
Policeman Daly happened to come along about that time and stopped the fight. He called an ambulance and sent Martin Allen to the Presbyterian Hospital, where he is now lying with a fractured skull.

box, started for New York after Mrs.
Raj-paport.
The box was said to have contained bloods worth of jewelry, but to-ay the amount was reduced to $2.500.
The box is about a foot long, six inches high, and nine and one-half inches wide. It weighs about thirty pounds, having a double lining and evidently intended to hold valuables.
The only clue the detectives had to work on this morning was a Greek coin and a piece of muslin, which were in the box when found.
The box was securely locked, but on the bottom there was a hole, four inches by three, evidently punctured with a coild chisel. All attempts to force the lock of the box have been unsuccessful. At 73 Main street, where the box was found, the tenants disclaim all knowledge of it. Abraham Kinfast, who keeps a store on the lower floor, says the box had been lying in the hall, behind the cellar door, for some days.

DAVENDORT LIFE LOW o Brunt, of the Supreme Court; Chief Judge Sedgwick, of the Superior Court; Chief Judge Daiy, of the Court of Common Pleas; City Judge Cowing, and Judges Martine and Flizgerald, of the Court of General Sessions.

Present were Acting Mayor McClellan, Recorder Smyth and Judges Cowing and Flizgerald, Commissioner Noonan acted as Clerk. He submitted a list of petit Jurors, from which the Board is to set the Court of the C

> PANIC IN AN OSTEND THEATRE. Thirty or Forty Injured-Slight Fire

Caused the Fright. BRUSSELS, Sept. 5 .- Shortly before for the Grand Jury by Justice the curtain was to rise in the Eden the first this ting on a charge of burglary Sun-affernoon he was caught under a per stanishiof Mechaleki's rooms at wettieth street. However, He only and in two minutes the stage scenery and in two minutes the stage scenery. and in two minutes the stage scenery was ablaze. The audience was panie stricken, and rushed madly for the Thirty or forty persons were thrown down and trampled upon. The fire on the stage was extinguished, and those

YORKSHIRE HANDICAP PLATE.

Won by Lebandy's Cuesterfield. with Cuttlestone Second. LONDON, Sept. 5.-The Doncaster

September meeting opened to-day with the race for the Great Vorkshire Handicap Plate of 1.500 sovereigns.

The race was won by M. R. Lebandy's five-year-old Chesterfield, carrying 8 stone 10 pounds. Lord Bradford's five-year-old Cuttlestone, carry

New York members back here to prevent the incorporation of any cloture rovision, which might be of great ad-

ONE MAY DIE

With Mis Mother-in-Law. A tamily row of a serious nature was rought to light this morning in the Harlem chanic, reached his home at 1803 Third lect from 600 to 1,000 names of persons who are to act as Grand Jurors.

The Board will meet Monday to add a number of names to make up the full complement of 1,000 Grand Jurors.

The names added must be those of petit jurors. Each member of the Board usually selects the names of a number of friends whom he wants to have on the Grand Jury.